Welcome

Welcome to the website of Coloradans for Renewable Energy! This website is a clearinghouse of information that brings together organizations from around Colorado in support of renewable energy technologies and energy efficiency practices. We represent many different constituencies and various points of view, and are working for environmentally and economically beneficial clean-energy technologies.

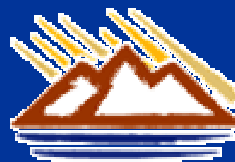

Colorado has one of the nation's best resources in wind, biomass, solar and other renewable energy technologies, and these technologies are capable of meeting our new electricity demands in a reliable, cost-effective manner.
